Lyubomir Slavilov
Manager
NOWAY MEDIA LTD.

Pavel and I have worked on several projects together. During that time, I have gotten to know Pavel quite well and can thoroughly vouch for his character and abilities.

During our work together Pavel has proved the ability to organize himself and also to manage the projects' workflow. He has the ability to divide a project into steps taking into account the available resources (time, knowledge, schedules, infrastructure, etc.). He can fit very well into the schedule of a project showing self organizational skills, ability to solve problems and passion to the work.

During our work together Pavel had growth in his ability to be more organized and also from the technical perspective. He was part of the following projects: "QRL", "Noway Accounts" and "Schoodle" as a developer and manager of the workflow. Some of the most significant and noticable things which is worth to be mentioned is that Schoodle was entirely developed by Pavel including the database design, database migration from the old version of Schoodle (developed a few years ago by himself), the whole back-end logic, back-end processes and system design.

He developed the RESTful API (called "Noway Accounts") which is a centralised database uniting users information part of QRL and Schoodle. This roles includes database design, developing of the RESTful API, writing Unit tests and building of the administration environment.
